

Client moves to other location and (transparently) connects to other replica

Replicas need to maintain client-centric consistency

Wide-area network

Distributed and replicated database

Read and write operations

Portable computer